- Brand tone enforcement — all messaging reviewed and approved against established voice guidelines
- Crisis response — Marée leads all crisis communication planning, messaging, and real-time response
- Public perception monitoring — ongoing sentiment tracking with quarterly reporting
- Hashtag and geo-tagging strategy, Stories, Reels, and milestone campaign planning

B Press, Media & Public Relations

Ongoing · Full PR Ownership

Marée Creative owns all press communication, media relationships, and the Channel South project narrative. No press contact is made independently of Marée Creative.

- All press communication — Marée is the single point of contact for all media and journalist inquiries
- Media relationships — ongoing cultivation of relationships with journalists, editors, and publications
- Project narrative — Marée controls the public-facing story from groundbreaking through opening and beyond

- Press kit — project overview, key facts, photography guidelines, and spokesperson talking points
- Target media list — local business journals, real estate trades, lifestyle publications, and community outlets
- Story angle development — 4–6 milestone-driven narratives (groundbreaking, topping out, launch, opening)
- Outreach execution — direct pitches to identified journalists and editors
- Quarterly press releases and coverage tracking included in performance reporting
- Influencer and local ambassador outreach

C Brand Identity, Design Intent & Experience

Ongoing · Brand Oversight Throughout

Marée Creative oversees the Channel South brand identity and design intent across all physical and digital expressions — ensuring every element of the project communicates a coherent, compelling experience.

- Brand identity stewardship — ongoing oversight of visual language, typography, color, and design standards
- Design intent guidance — creative direction for all physical spaces, signage, environmental graphics, and amenity presentation
- Experience design — how the brand feels at every guest and resident touchpoint, from digital to in-person
- Placemaking strategy — intentional decisions that give Channel South a distinct identity within its neighborhood
- Vendor and partner creative alignment — all third-party vendors kept on-brand throughout development
- Collateral and asset review — approval of all branded materials before public release
